

Hash report - Run 251
7th February 2016 - Setmurthy Woods
Hares - Rocky Rock and Plum Tart

It was a small and select gathering that met on this cool, crisp morning. The first challenge was to find a parking space. Driving in from the Higham Hall end, every lay-by was chocker with parked cars! Had the Hash reputation grown considerably due to the recent 250th anniversary press - or if not, what the hell were all these cars doing here?

Having to park on the roadside due to the volume of parked cars, it became clear that some major mountain biking event was sharing the woods with us today! The limited number of hashers reduced further upon the discovery that there was only one walker - so MisDemeanour departed for a cosier Sunday morning!

The remaining 5 runners (including Hares!) then spent an enjoyable hour and a half traversing the delights of the woods, with only one real encounter with the mountain bikers - during a steep downhill firebreak - but no one came to any harm to either party and we continued to co-exist happily together.

At one point I thought we had found stumbled across some hidden, witches' gathering site as we found toadstool seats / stick tents etc., but only to see the banners of the Fairfield School woodland picnic site! For those of you who couldn't make it - you also missed Plum Tart's smiling little face as we encountered plenty of very wet and muddy shiggy. The Hares obviously wanting to remember the delights of Cumbria before departing "down-under"!

A short and concise Hash - just right - for getting us out on a cool and muddy Sunday morning!

On On!
